Membraloop nominated for DAME Award 2023!

The innovative in-line drinking water filter MEMBRALOOOP is nominated for the prestigious award of a jury of experts at METS, the world's leading trade fair for boating accessories

Membraloop will celebrate its world premiere at the fair in Amsterdam, so it is not yet on the market, but already nominated. From the world premiere of the Membraloop at METS onwards, bad drinking water on board, in the motorhome or camper or even at home will be a thing of the past, just like constant filter changes and contamination by activated carbon filters. Based on hollow fiber membrane technology, MEMBRALOOOP purifies drinking water from solids, viruses, bacteria and contaminants for up to 10 years. The filter can be easily cleaned when the flow rate decreases. The best thing about MEMBRALOOOP is that it is easy to use: it is simply integrated into the drinking water system on the pressure side, various fittings can be attached to the 1/2" thread for this purpose, depending on the existing system. It is "Highly Protective" according to WHO definition and complies with EU Directive 10/2011 and 1935/2004. Optimal filtration is made possible by pores in the hollow fibers of the C-MEM (TM) membrane, which are only 0.02 µm in size. The pressure loss through the filter is low and can be operated with standard pressure pumps up to 5 bar. If a larger quantity of drinking water is required, the Membraloop can be installed in parallel depending on the needs and application. For shipyards, Hansa Noord also offers project-related planning of drinking water supply with Membraloop in yachts.

Dealer inquiries and stand visits at METS welcome! Membraloop will be available from the premiere at METS in well-stocked specialist stores and in the web store at www.membraloop.eu RRP: 495 euros incl. VAT. Made in Europe
