

Helmet-Integrated Professional Sailor Headset - “Frank”

Rugged headset for professional sailors

The Big Blue Professional Sailor Headset, “Frank”, has been designed specifically to meet the needs of professional sailors and the demanding conditions they face, including wind noise, sail noise, rain and the harsh salt water environment.

Do you require reliable communication on the water in all weather conditions?

Those that must go to sea, including professional sailors, lifeboat operators, military and emergency services, require reliable communication that can withstand demanding conditions. Big Blue Maritime is proud to manufacture a headset that was purpose-built and has been battle-tested by America’s Cup, SailGP and teams on the regatta circuit.

The headset functions by clipping directly into the sailor helmet and is programmed to ensure optimised communication. It boasts an IP68 rated microphone, a latch push-to-talk button (PTT), is extremely lightweight and is custom built for helmet and connector requirements.

Do you require reliable, rugged audio solutions?

The Big Blue Maritime professional headset can also be pair with the Diamond Intercom system. The Diamond system is exclusively distributed by Big Blue Maritime, and has been paired with the Big Blue Maritime headset for sailing, lifeboat, search and rescue and military applications.

The Diamond intercom system and Frank are designed to work together to provide crystal clear communications in the most austere environments, and are the communications solution of choice for premier professional yacht racers, special forces, police patrol and race chase boats. For more information about the Diamond Intercom, please visit the Big Blue website.
